CHILD SAFEGUARDING

Definitions:

Legal Definition of a Child in Ireland

Under the Child Care Act 1991 a child is defined as “a person under the age of 18 years, excluding a person who is or has been married”.

The meaning of “harm”, in relation to a child

(a) assault, ill-treatment or neglect of the child in a manner that seriously affects or is likely to seriously affect the child’s health, development or welfare, or

(b) sexual abuse of the child, -- Children First Act (page 6)

Definitions of Abuse: Neglect, Emotional, Physical and Sexual

Neglect: Where the child suffers significant harm or impairment of development by being deprived of food, clothing, warmth, hygiene, intellectual stimulation, supervision and safety, attachment to and affection from adults, medical care.

Emotional: When a child’s need for affection, approval, consistency and security are not met. Emotional abuse is normally to be found in the relationship between a caregiver and a child.

Physical: A form of non-accidental injury or injury which results from wilful or neglectful failure to protect a child.

Sexual: When a child is used by another person for his or her gratification or sexual arousal or for that of others.

TYPES OF CHILD ABUSE AND HOW THEY MAY BE RECOGNISED

Child abuse can be categorised into four different types: neglect, emotional abuse, physical abuse and sexual abuse.

A child may be subjected to one or more forms of abuse at any given time. Abuse and neglect can occur within the family, in the community or in an institutional setting. The abuser may be someone known to the child or a stranger and can be an adult or another child. In a situation where abuse is alleged to have been carried out by another child, you should consider it a child welfare and protection issue for both children and you should follow child protection procedures for both the victim and the alleged abuser.

The important factor in deciding whether the behaviour is abuse or neglect is the impact of that behaviour on the child rather than the intention of the parent/carer.

The definitions of neglect and abuse presented in this section are not legal definitions. They are intended to describe ways in which a child might experience abuse and how this abuse may be recognised.

Neglect

Child neglect is the most frequently reported category of abuse, both in Ireland and internationally. Ongoing chronic neglect is recognised as being extremely harmful to the development and well-being of the child and may have serious long-term negative consequences.

Neglect occurs when a child does not receive adequate care or supervision to the extent that the child is harmed physically or developmentally. It is generally defined in terms of an omission of care, where a child's health, development or welfare is impaired by being deprived of food, clothing, warmth, hygiene medical care, intellectual stimulation or supervision and safety. Emotional neglect may also lead to the child having attachment difficulties. The extent of the damage to the child's health, development or welfare is influenced by a range of factors. These factors include the extent, if any, of positive influence in the child's life as well as the age of the child and the frequency and consistency of neglect.

Neglect is associated with poverty but not necessarily caused by it. It is strongly linked to parental substance misuse, domestic violence, and parental mental illness and disability.

A reasonable concern for the child's welfare would exist when neglect becomes typical of the relationship between the child and the parent or carer. This may become apparent where you see the child over a period of time, or the effects of neglect may be obvious based on having seen the child once.

The following are features of child neglect:

- Children being left alone without adequate care and supervision
- Malnourishment, lacking food, unsuitable food or erratic feeding
- Non-organic failure to thrive, i.e. a child not gaining weight due not only to malnutrition but also emotional deprivation

- Failure to provide adequate care for the child's medical and developmental needs, including intellectual stimulation
- Inadequate living conditions – unhygienic conditions, environmental
- Issues, including lack of adequate heating and furniture
- Lack of adequate clothing
- Inattention to basic hygiene
- Lack of protection and exposure to danger, including moral danger, or lack of supervision appropriate to the child's age
- Persistent failure to attend school
- Abandonment or desertion

Emotional abuse

Emotional abuse is the systematic emotional or psychological ill-treatment of a child as part of the overall relationship between a caregiver and a child. Once-off and occasional difficulties between a parent/carer and child are not considered emotional abuse. Abuse occurs when a child's basic need for attention, affection, approval, consistency and security are not met, due to incapacity or indifference from their parent or caregiver. Emotional abuse can also occur when adults responsible for taking care of children are unaware of and unable (for a range of reasons) to meet their children's emotional and developmental needs. Emotional abuse is not easy to recognise because the effects are not easily seen.

A reasonable concern for the child's welfare would exist when the behaviour becomes typical of the relationship between the child and the parent or carer.

Emotional abuse may be seen in some of the following ways:

- Rejection Lack of comfort and love
- Lack of attachment
- Lack of proper stimulation (e.g. fun and play)
- Lack of continuity of care (e.g. frequent moves, particularly unplanned)
- Continuous lack of praise and encouragement
- Persistent criticism, sarcasm, hostility or blaming of the child
- Bullying
- Conditional parenting in which care or affection of a child depends on his or her behaviours or actions
- Extreme overprotectiveness
- Inappropriate non-physical punishment (e.g. locking child in bedroom)
- Ongoing family conflicts and family violence
- Seriously inappropriate expectations of a child relative to his/her age and stage of development

There may be no physical signs of emotional abuse unless it occurs with another type of abuse. A child may show signs of emotional abuse through their actions or emotions in several ways. These include insecure attachment, unhappiness, low self-esteem, educational and developmental underachievement, risk taking and aggressive behaviour. It should be noted that no one indicator is conclusive evidence of emotional abuse. Emotional abuse is more likely to impact negatively on a child where it is persistent over time and where there is a lack of other protective factors.

Physical abuse

Physical abuse is when someone deliberately hurts a child physically or puts them at risk of being physically hurt. It may occur as a single incident or as a pattern of incidents. A reasonable concern exists where the child's health and/ or development is, may be, or has been damaged as a result of suspected physical abuse.

Physical abuse can include the following:

- Physical punishment
- Beating, slapping, hitting or kicking
- Pushing, shaking or throwing
- Pinching, biting, choking or hair-pulling
- Use of excessive force in handling
- Deliberate poisoning
- Suffocation
- Fabricated/induced illness
- Female genital mutilation

The Children First Act 2015 includes a provision that abolishes the common law defense of reasonable chastisement in court proceedings. This defense could previously be invoked by a parent or other person in authority who physically disciplined a child. The change in the legislation now means that in prosecutions relating to assault or physical cruelty, a person who administers such punishment to a child cannot rely on the defense of reasonable chastisement in the legal proceedings. The result of this is that the protections in law relating to assault now apply to a child in the same way as they do to an adult.

Sexual abuse

Sexual abuse occurs when a child is used by another person for his or her gratification or arousal, or for that of others. It includes the child being involved in sexual acts (masturbation, fondling, oral or penetrative sex) or exposing the child to sexual activity directly or through pornography.

Child sexual abuse may cover a wide spectrum of abusive activities. It rarely involves just a single incident and, in some instances, occurs over a number of years.

Child sexual abuse most commonly happens within the family, including older siblings and extended family members.

Cases of sexual abuse mainly come to light through disclosure by the child or his or her siblings/friends, from the suspicions of an adult, and/or by physical symptoms.

Examples of child sexual abuse include the following:

- Any sexual act intentionally performed in the presence of a child
- An invitation to sexual touching or intentional touching or molesting of a child's body whether by a person or object for the purpose of sexual arousal or gratification
- Masturbation in the presence of a child or the involvement of a child in an act of masturbation
- Sexual intercourse with a child, whether oral, vaginal or anal
- Sexual exploitation of a child, which includes:
 - Inviting, inducing or coercing a child to engage in prostitution or the production of child pornography [for example, exhibition, modelling or posing for the purpose of sexual arousal, gratification or sexual act, including its recording (on film, videotape or other media) or the manipulation, for those purposes, of an image by computer or other means]

- Inviting, coercing or inducing a child to participate in, or to observe, any sexual, indecent or obscene act
- Showing sexually explicit material to children, which is often a feature of the 'grooming' process by perpetrators of abuse
- Exposing a child to inappropriate or abusive material through information and communication technology
- Consensual sexual activity involving an adult and an underage person

It should be remembered that sexual activity involving a young person may be sexual abuse even if the young person concerned does not themselves recognise it as abusive.

An Garda Síochána will deal with any criminal aspects of a sexual abuse case under the relevant criminal justice legislation. The prosecution of a sexual offence against a child will be considered within the wider objective of child welfare and protection. The safety of the child is paramount and at no stage should a child's safety be compromised because of concern for the integrity of a criminal investigation.

In relation to child sexual abuse, it should be noted that in criminal law the age of consent to sexual intercourse is 17 years for both boys and girls. Any sexual relationship where one or both parties are under the age of 17 is illegal. However, it may not necessarily be regarded as child sexual abuse.

Circumstances which may make children more vulnerable to harm

If you are dealing with children, you need to be alert to the possibility that a welfare or protection concern may arise in relation to children you come in contact with. A child needs to have someone they can trust in order to feel able to disclose abuse they may be experiencing. They need to know that they will be believed and will get the help they need. Without these things, they may be vulnerable to will be believed and will get the help they need. Without these things, they may be vulnerable to continuing abuse.

Some children may be more vulnerable to abuse than others. Also, there may be particular times or circumstances when a child may be more vulnerable to abuse in their lives. In particular, children with disabilities, children with communication difficulties, children in care or living away from home, or children with a parent or parents with problems in their own lives may be more susceptible to harm.

The following list is intended to help you identify the range of issues in a child's life that may place them at greater risk of abuse or neglect. It is important for you to remember that the presence of any of these factors does not necessarily mean that a child in those circumstances or settings is being abused.

Parent or carer factors:

- Drug and alcohol misuse
- Addiction, including gambling
- Mental health issues
- Parental disability issues, including learning or intellectual disability
- Conflictual relationships
- Domestic violence
- Adolescent parents

Child factors:

- Age
- Gender
- Sexuality
- Disability
- Mental health issues, including self-harm and suicide
- Communication difficulties
- Trafficked/Exploited
- Previous abuse
- Young carer

Community factors:

- Cultural, ethnic, religious or faith-based norms in the family or community which may not meet the standards of child welfare or protection required in this jurisdiction
- Culture-specific practices, including:
 - Female genital mutilation
 - Forced marriage
 - Honour-based violence
 - Radicalisation

Environmental factors:

- Housing issues
- Children who are out of home and not living with their parents, whether temporarily or permanently
- Poverty/Begging
- Bullying
- Internet and social media-related concerns

Poor motivation or willingness of parents/guardians to engage:

- Non-attendance at appointments
- Lack of insight or understanding of how the child is being affected
- Lack of understanding about what needs to happen to bring about change
- Avoidance of contact and reluctance to work with services
- Inability or unwillingness to comply with agreed plans

You should consider these factors as part of being alert to the possibility that a child may be at risk of suffering abuse and in bringing reasonable concerns to the attention of Tusla.

BULLYING

It is recognized that bullying affects the lives of an increasing number of children and can be the cause of genuine concerns about a child's welfare.

Bullying can be defined as repeated aggression – whether it is verbal, psychological or physical – that is conducted by an individual or group against others. It is behaviour that is intentionally aggravating and intimidating and occurs mainly among children in social environments such as schools. It includes behaviours such as physical aggression, cyberbullying, damage to property, intimidation, isolation/exclusion, name calling, malicious gossip and extortion. Bullying can also take the form of abuse based on gender identity, sexual preference, race, ethnicity and religious factors. With developments in modern technology, children can also be the victims of non-contact bullying, via mobile phones, the internet and other personal devices.

While bullying can happen to any child, some may be more vulnerable. These include: children with disabilities or special educational needs; those from ethnic minority and migrant groups; from the Traveller community; lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender (LGBT) children and those perceived to be LGBT; and children of minority religious faiths.

There can be an increased vulnerability to bullying among children with special educational needs. This is particularly so among those who do not understand social cues and/or have difficulty communicating. Some children with complex needs may lack understanding of social situations and therefore trust everyone implicitly. Such children may be more vulnerable because they do not have the same social skills or capacity as others to recognize and defend themselves against bullying behaviour. Bullying in schools is a particular problem due to the fact that children spend a significant portion of their time there and are in large social groups. In the first instance, the school authorities are responsible for dealing with such bullying. School management boards must have a code of behaviour and an anti-bullying policy in place. If you are a staff member of a school, you should also be aware of your school's anti-bullying policy and of the relevant guidelines on how it is handled.

In cases of serious instances of bullying where the behaviour is regarded as possibly abusive, you may need to make a referral to Tusla and/or An Garda Síochána.

REASONABLE GROUNDS FOR CONCERN include:

1. Evidence, for example an injury or behaviour, that is consistent with abuse and is unlikely to have been caused in any other way
2. Any concern about possible sexual abuse
3. Consistent signs that a child is suffering from emotional or physical neglect
4. A child saying or indicating by other means that he or she has been abused
5. Admission or indication by an adult or a child of an alleged abuse they committed
6. An account from a person who saw the child being abused.

REPORTING PROCEDURE: The initial response to a disclosure is crucial.
It is important to be aware of your own emotional reaction.
Hearing a disclosure is likely to be distressing.

 - Informing the parents/guardians is likely to endanger the child or young person;
 - Informing the parents/guardians may place you as the reporter at risk of harm from the family;
 - The family's knowledge of the report could impair Tusla's ability to carry out an assessment.
- Record all concerns or allegations of child abuse brought to your attention as well as any action/inaction taken in response to these concerns.

The Designated Liaison Person is Anne O'Donnell. Contact 066 7123055

It is the responsibility of the Relevant Person, DLP and DDL to support and advise all our staff and contracted facilitators about our policy in regard to child protection.

It is the DLP and DDL's responsibility to ensure that procedures are followed as outlined in Siamsa Tíre Child Safeguarding Policy document and Child Safeguarding Statement.

It is the DLP and DDL's responsibility to liaise with Tusla – The Child and Family Agency and/or An Garda Síochána where appropriate.

Any reasonable grounds for concern should be immediately reported to the Designated Liaison Person or Deputy Designated Liaison Person; it is their role to contact Tusla – The Child and Family Agency or An Garda Síochána.

Dealing with Disclosure:

THE ONE THING YOU MUST NOT DO IS NOTHING.

Siamsa Tíre is aware that the youth theatre space is a safe space for the young person and they may feel more comfortable talking about any concerns and difficulties in their lives than in other settings. A young person may disclose an abuse/abuses perpetrated against him/her. It is essential that they feel supported in what may be an extremely traumatic experience for them. The act of disclosing is a huge act of trust and must be treated with respect, sensitivity and care. All those who have contact with young people through their roles in Siamsa Tíre should be aware of the possibility of receiving a disclosure of abuse from a young person and familiarise themselves with the advice below.

The following advice on handling a disclosure of abuse is adapted from Code of Good Practice – Child Protection for the Youth Work Sector (2003):

- React calmly, as over-reacting may alarm the young person and compound feelings of anxiety and guilt
 - Listen carefully and attentively; take the young person seriously
- Reassure the young person that they have taken the right action in telling
- Do not make false promises, particularly regarding secrecy
- Do not ask the young person to repeat the story unnecessarily
- Ask questions only for the purpose of clarification. Be supportive, but do not ask leading questions or seek intimate details beyond those volunteered by the child. Detailed investigative interviews will, if necessary, be carried out by Child and Family Agency Staff member or members of the Garda Síochana
- Check with the young person to ensure that what has been heard and understood by you is accurate.
- Do not express any opinions about the alleged abuser
- Record the conversation as soon as possible in as much detail as possible.
- Sign and date the record
- Explain and ensure that the young person understands the procedures which will follow
- Pass the information to the Designated Person, who will follow reporting procedures.
- Treat the information confidentially, sharing it only with persons who have a right to hear it i.e. on a 'need to know' basis only

Who to report to at Siamsa Tíre

- Inform the Designated Liaison Person or Deputy Designated Liaison Person (Anne O'Donnell/ Jonathan Kelliher) of all details including the date, time and people involved and the facts. Ensure that details recorded are as you have outlined them to the DLP/ DDLP. Any opinions should be supported by facts.
- The DP/ DDLP will discuss the concerns with primary careers of the child or young person involved. Parents, careers or responsible adults should be made aware of a report to Tusla unless it is likely to put the child or young person at further risk.
- The DLP/ DDLP may contact Tusla's social worker for an informal consultation prior to making a report.
- Information shared will be strictly on a "need to know" basis (see our confidentiality policy).
- If there are reasonable grounds for concern, the DLP/ DDLP will contact the duty social worker for our area using the standard reporting Tusla form without delay.
- If the DLP or DDLP is not available, contact the local duty social worker of Tusla directly. Contact information is included with this policy.
- In case of emergencies outside of Tulsa's social work department hours, contact the Gardaí. In situations where the immediate safety of a child or young person is threatened, it may be necessary for the DLP, DDLP or the person reporting concerns to immediately contact the Gardaí.

Children First: National Guidance for the Protection and Welfare of Children (Dept. of Children and Youth Affairs, 2017) recommend that the following procedure is followed where reasonable grounds exist for the reporting of suspected or actual child abuse.

This forms the basis of Siamsa Tíre's policy for reporting:

- A report (informal or formal) can be made to Tusla in person, by telephone, in writing to the local social work duty service ((9am – 5pm) or by the Tusla Web portal <https://www.tusla.ie/children-first/web-portal/> (Mon – Fri 9am-5pm). The Tusla Portal allows users to securely submit Child Protection and Welfare Report Forms (CPWRFs) and Retrospective Abuse Report Forms (RARFs) to Tusla online. To use the Tusla Portal, you will first need to create a user account. After you complete and submit your Report on the Tusla Portal you can then print a copy for your own records.

Reports must be made using the Tusla reporting form. Each region has a social worker on duty for a certain number of hours each day. The duty social worker is available to meet with, or talk on the telephone, to persons wishing to report child protection concerns. Contact information for the nearest officers is retained at Siamsa Tíre and available within this Policy Document.

- The DLP/DDLP who has been approached with concerns or allegations of child abuse, or who has concerns regarding a child at Siamsa Tíre, will make personal contact with the duty social worker. They will facilitate the social worker in gathering as much information as possible about the child and his or her situation. It is likely that the social worker will wish to speak to the person who first witnessed the incident, received the disclosure, or felt the concern. The DLP/DDLP will assist with making contact as required.

- In the event of an emergency, or the non-availability of Tusla staff; the report will be made to An Garda Síochána.

- Under no circumstances will a young person be left in a dangerous situation pending the intervention of the authorities.

- According to guidelines any professional who suspects child abuse should inform the family if a report is likely to be submitted to Tusla or An Garda Síochána, unless doing so is likely to endanger the child. Co-operation with the family is essential in order to ensure the safety of the child. DP/DDP will strike a balance between showing respect for families and using authority appropriately.

How to Report Your Concerns or a Disclosure:

To help Tusla staff assess your reasonable concern they need as much information as possible about the child and his/her home circumstances and the grounds for concern. A confidential report should be given to the DLP/DDLP and could include:

- The child's name, address and age
- Names and addresses of parents or guardians
- Names, if known, of who is allegedly harming the child or not caring for them appropriately
- A detailed account of your grounds for concern (e.g. details of the allegation, dates of incidents, and descriptions of injuries)
- Names of other children in the household
- Name of school the child attends
- Your name, contact details and relationship to the child

While it is possible to report a concern without giving your name, it may make it difficult for Tusla to access your concern.

The Protection for Persons Reporting Child Abuse Act, 1998, provides immunity from civil liability to persons who report abuse 'reasonably and in good faith to Tusla or An Garda Síochána'. This means that, even if the reported suspicion of child abuse proves unfounded, a plaintiff who took an action would have to prove that the reporter had not acted reasonably and in good faith in making the report.

What will happen after a report is made?

If you make a report about a child, Tusla will normally acknowledge it, and may contact you for further information, if necessary. It is understandable that you would like to be assured that the matter is being followed up. However, to protect the privacy of the child and family, it may not be possible for Tusla to inform you of the progress or outcome of Tusla's contact with the child or family, unless you are involved in discussions around family support or child protection plans. If you continue to have concerns about the child, or if additional information comes to light, you should contact Tusla.

Role of Siamsa Tire after a report is made

Siamsa Tire's Designated Liaison Person/ DDLP, and if appropriate the staff member to whom the disclosure was made, will continue to be available to support the young person. We will encourage and support them in maintaining their involvement with the organisation. Siamsa Tire is aware that there are organisations that have specific expertise on welfare and child protection and the DLP may decide to contact one or more of these organisations for advice. We are also aware that there may be circumstances when it is more appropriate to refer a young person to an organisation with specific expertise. (For a List of National Support Organisations See Appendix Fourteen)
If there is any doubt about the best way to support the young person, Siamsa Tire's Designated Liaison Person will contact Tusla for advice.

Dealing with a retrospective allegation

The term retrospective abuse refers to abuse that an adult discloses that took place during their childhood. A Retrospective Abuse Report Form can be downloaded from the Tusla website and the link is available in the Appendices of this document. The DLP/ DDLP can, if required, support the individual to make this report. In cases of retrospective abuse, a report needs to be made, where there is a current or potential future risk to children from the person against whom there is an allegation. In this instance, the DLP should follow Standard Reporting Procedures as set out in this document.

The National Counselling Service is in place to listen to, value and understand those who have been abused in childhood. The service is a professional, confidential counselling and psychotherapy service and is available free of charge in all regions of the country (see http://www.hse.ie/eng/services/list/4/Mental_Health_Services/National_Counselling_Service/). The service can be accessed either through healthcare professionals or by way of self-referral.

Staff Allegations Procedure

If allegations of abuse are made against employees, it is important to note that there are two procedures to be followed:

- The reporting procedure in respect of the child
- The procedure for dealing with the employee

In general, it is recommended that the same person should not have responsibility for dealing with both the reporting issues and the employment issues, therefore:

1. Senior management will inform the employee that an allegation has been made against him/her.
2. Senior management will inform the employee of the nature of the allegation.
3. The employee should be afforded the opportunity to respond. The employer should note the response and pass on this information when making the formal report to Tusla.
4. Senior management will follow the standard procedure for reporting allegations to Tusla without delay.
5. The chairperson will be informed as soon as possible.
6. Action should be guided by the agreed procedures stated in the Child Safeguarding Policy document, by referral to Tusla guidance, and the applicable employment contract.
7. The first priority will be to ensure that no child is exposed to unnecessary risk. Senior management will as a matter of urgency take any necessary protective measures. These measures will be proportionate to the level of risk and will not unreasonably penalise the employee, financially or otherwise, unless necessary to protect children. Where protective measures do penalize the employee, early consideration will be given to the case.

8. Any action following an allegation of abuse against an employee will be taken in consultation with Tusla and An Garda Siochana. Senior management will maintain a close liaison with these authorities to achieve this.
9. After these consultations referred to above and when pursuing the question of the future position of the employee, senior management will advise the person accused of the allegation and the agreed procedures will be followed.
10. Children and/or their primary caregivers will be informed by management or the board of any allegations made against Siamsa Tíre staff concerning them, so long as it is in accordance with our Child Safeguarding Policy guidelines for reporting and confidentiality and taking into consideration the age of the child and any spec

Procedure to be followed where an Allegation is made against Another Young Person:

If an allegation is made against another young person, it should be considered a child protection issue for both the young people involved and child protection procedures should be adhered to for both the victim and the alleged abuser.

The parents/guardians of the young people concerned should be informed immediately. Advice should be taken from the Statutory Authorities as to how this might best be done. Decisions regarding the future participation of the young person alleged to have committed abuse should be made at management level and with advice from an organisation/individual with expertise in the area.

Working safely with children and young people

Siamsa Tíre has developed the following Code of Behaviour for all staff/volunteers who work with young people:

Code of Behaviour – Adults

For staff/volunteers, contracted facilitators and visiting groups working with vulnerable adults or persons under 18 years old in Siamsa Tíre (regardless of whether the interaction is in person, online or otherwise):

1. All adults working with children and young or vulnerable people must have read and understood Siamsa Tíre's Child Safeguarding Policy.
2. Be child centered: create an environment in which children are listened to, valued, encouraged and affirmed, have their rights respected and are treated as individuals.
3. Involve children in decision-making, as appropriate.
4. Always seek the child's permission before engaging in work that requires touch. Be mindful of physical boundaries that should be governed by the age and developmental stage of the child.
5. Adopt the safest possible practices to minimise the possibility of harm or accidents happening to children and protect yourself from the risk of accusations of abuse or neglect.
6. Report and record all accidents on an Incident Report Form.
7. Report and record all concerns, disclosures and complaints on an Incident Report Form and give it to the Designated Liaison Person immediately.
8. Be open with parents and consult with them about everything that concerns their children.
9. Don't spend excessive amounts of time alone with children away from others.
10. Ensure adequate adult supervision and accompaniment of children. Siamsa Tíre requests that one adult supervisor be present for every ten children. These supervisors should be in addition to any adult performers.
11. On occasion, one to one tutoring may occur. Parents/ guardians will be made aware when and if this is the case and are welcome to wait in the theatre for the duration of tuition.
12. Don't take children alone in a car journey, however short, or alone to your home.
13. Never engage in sexually provocative games, allow or engage in inappropriate touching of any form.
14. Never make sexually suggestive comments about or to a child.
15. Never tell jokes of a sexual nature in the presence of children.
16. Never do things of a personal nature for children that they can do for themselves.
17. Never let allegations made by a child go uninvestigated or unrecorded.

I have read and understood the above Child Safeguarding Code of Behaviour and I undertake to follow this Code while engaged with Siamsa Tíre. I will also read Siamsa Tíre's Child Safeguarding Policy available for download from <https://www.siamsatire.com/about/child-protection-policy>

Accidents Procedure

Good practices in Siamsa Tíre to keep children and staff safe.

If an accident occurs always:

- Stay calm, listen and act quickly
- Seek medical attention immediately if required.
- Record the accident in the Incident Report Form.
- Inform the parents and Designated Person.

Know the location of our First Aid box (Box Office, backstage and rehearsal room)

Good Practices to avoid or monitor accidents

Know the children:

- We have defined codes of behaviour for adults and young people.
- We have a registration system for each child.
- We keep a record on each child, including medical details, any special needs and emergency contact telephone numbers.

Keep records of:

- Attendance
- Accidents - accident records should be reviewed regularly, and any unusual patterns reported to senior management
- Consents given for various activities
- Any complaints or grievances

Pay attention to health and safety matters making sure that:

- Any buildings being used are safe and meet required standards
- There is sufficient heating and ventilation
- Toilets, showers areas and washing facilities are up to standard
- Fire precautions are in place
- First aid facilities and equipment are adequate
- There is access to a phone - emergency numbers are displayed in the lobby
- Equipment is checked regularly
- Insurance cover is adequate

It is important to ensure that:

- Children are not left unattended
- Adequate numbers of workers of both sexes are available to supervise the activities
- Workers know at all times where children are and what they are doing
- Any activity using potentially dangerous equipment has constant adult supervision
- Dangerous behaviour is not allowed

Discipline and challenging behaviour:

- More than one person should be present when challenging behaviour is being dealt with
- A record is kept in the Incident Book describing what happened, the circumstances, who was involved, any injury to a person or to property and how the situation was resolved

Provide training, including:

- Induction training for all staff
- Particular skills training to fit in with the nature of the organization
- Child safeguarding training to raise awareness and provide information about how to respond to suspicions or incidents of child abuse

Supervising workers:

- Focus on the work to be done, always acknowledging the positive tasks that have already been carried out
- Provide opportunities for discussing concerns and training needs
- Hold a review at the end of the trial period to confirm the workers in post, to extend his/her probation period or to determine his/her services
- Have an annual review or staff appraisal to assess general performance and review any changes that have happened or that you need to make.

Ratios

While Siamsa Tíre recognises that different groups and situations, will require different levels of supervision, we do subscribe to the following key principles that are recommended as good practice in the youth work sector:

- Child Protection for The Youth Work Sector (2003): The minimum adult/young person ratio should ideally be one adult per group of eight plus one other adult on “site”, and allowing an additional adult for each group of ten thereafter. Local circumstances, the ages of the children, the experience of the volunteers and the staff should be taken into consideration.
- When planning activities/events, one of the considerations is the most appropriate adult/young person ratio.
- Siamsa Tíre takes all reasonable measures to ensure that the gender of the staff/volunteers reflects the gender of the group

Confidentiality Statement

We at Siamsa Tíre recognize the need for confidentiality in all matters regarding child safeguarding and will at all times adhere to the guidelines laid out in both our own Child Safeguarding Policy and that of the Department of Children and Youth Affairs.

Confidentiality Policy for Staff, Tutors, Volunteers, Youth Facilitators and Group Leaders:

- "Need to know" basis - any information provided to Tusla and An Garda Síochána will remain confidential. The official policy is that those receiving such information will only disclose it where the welfare of the child requires it and then only to those with a legitimate “need to know” basis.
- Primary carers, children and young people have a right to know if personal information is being shared with Tusla, unless doing so could put the child at further risk.
- Images of any child or young person participating in activities organised by Siamsa Tíre Theatre will not be used for any reason without the consent of the parent/caregiver. Consent will be sought for photographs, video footage, including posters, flyers and / or newspapers to be used publicly or for social media publicity purposes.

- Records and information are kept in a safe and confidential manner. Access to Siamsa Tíre Incident Report Form is through Siamsa Tíre Theatre staff only, under the authorisation of the Relevant Person, DLP and DDLP, and is not accessible to the general public. Information about health issues and special needs of children participating in any youth programme at Siamsa Tíre Theatre are also confidential. Staff and facilitators have access to these records under the authorisation of Anne O'Donnell (Designated Liaison Person) only, however staff on duty during classes, and facilitator(s), can and must access this information as appropriate. All staff and facilitators abide by the Child Safeguarding Policy guidelines of Siamsa Tíre Theatre including this confidentiality policy.

Staff Procedures

Recruitment Procedures

Safe practice starts with safe recruitment procedures and involves:

- Always applying thorough selection procedures, no matter who the applicant happens to be;
- Judging the suitability of applicants in relation to a broad range of matters;
- Taking all reasonable steps to eliminate people who are not suitable for working with children; and
- Providing training.

Process to follow when recruiting workers:

1. Clear definition of the role of the employee: clarify and agree expectations regarding the role, identify the minimum level of personal qualities and skills required to fill the post.
2. Application: Siamsa Tíre & Arts Centre will collect a CV and all relevant information about the applicant, including past experience of working with children.
3. Declaration: all applicants will be required to sign a declaration stating that there is no reason why they would be unsuitable to work with children and young people, and declaring any past criminal convictions or cases pending against them. It is the policy of Siamsa Tíre Theatre to exclude applicants who would be deemed "a risk" to children. Some reasons for exclusion could include any child-related convictions, a refusal to comply with recruitment procedures and paperwork requirements, insufficient documentation or references, or concealing any information regarding the applicant's suitability to working with children.
4. Interview: all applicants will be interviewed by at least two representatives of Siamsa Tíre. Interviewers assess the applicant's suitability for the post. The information supplied by the applicant and any other information supplied on their behalf will only be seen by persons directly involved in the recruitment procedure.
5. References: an applicant will be expected to supply a CV and the names of two referees (not family members) who will testify as to their character, suitability to the role of employee, or any other issues which may affect their ability to perform the tasks required of them. At least one referee should have first-hand knowledge of the applicant's previous work or contact with children. All references will be received in writing and later confirmed by telephone, letter or personal visit.
6. Identification: the identity of the applicant must be confirmed against some documentation (ID card, driving license, passport or long birth certificate) and proof of address which gives his/her full name and address together with a signature and photograph. This will be compared with the written application.

7. Garda Clearance: candidates must consent to Garda vetting, and Garda Clearance will be verified by Siamsa Tíre Theatre DP/DDP before employment is confirmed.

GARDA VETTING

Garda vetting is provided in Ireland by the National Vetting Bureau (NVB) of An Garda Síochána. Under the National Vetting Bureau (Children & Vulnerable Persons) Acts 2012 to 2016 a person, company, organisation or group providing relevant services to children or vulnerable persons must have vetting in place for any person they employ, contract or permit to undertake 'relevant work and activities'. This is where 'a necessary and regular part consists mainly of the person having access to, or contact with, children or vulnerable persons'. It includes full-time, part-time, voluntary work and student placements. Vetting under the Act can only be conducted in respect of such persons and activities.

Create is registered with the National Vetting Bureau to represent other persons, organisations and groups in accessing vetting for bona-fide reasons of employment or engagement in relevant work or activities in the arts and culture. Since 2007, we have provided access to vetting for a large number of organisations including arts centres, commissioners, production companies, arts events and festivals, film-makers, community cultural groups, creative activities, and individual artists and freelance arts practitioners.

To process vetting through Create, you must be affiliated to the vetting service. Create provides access to the national online e-Vetting system, which means speedy processing of applications, where individuals can track the progress of their application online.

Under the Children First Act 2015, a provider of relevant services to children is required to complete a Child Safeguarding Statement and must appoint a designated person as the first point of contact in respect of the Child Safeguarding Statement.

In accessing vetting, affiliates authorise An Garda to process sensitive personal data through Create. We are committed to safeguarding the privacy rights of affiliates and vetting applicants. All personal information in our care is treated with the highest standards of security and confidentiality, in accordance with data protection law and regulation.

Update January 2020: – GNVB Registration Requirements

As of 1 January 2020 all new employers (excluding self-employed artists) wishing to use Create's Vetting for the Arts Service to access Garda vetting must contact the Garda National Vetting Bureau in the first instance to establish if they are undertaking relevant work. Please note that self-employed artists should contact Create's vetting service directly and do not need a garda national vetting bureau reference number.

If your service is approved by the National Vetting Bureau they will give you a reference number. Create will be unable to process vetting applications for new employers without this number. If you are not already affiliated to Create, please contact us to find out if we can help you or your organisation to access vetting, after receiving your registration number from the Vetting Bureau.

To contact the Garda National Vetting Bureau – Phone 1890 488488 or Email: [vetting\[at\]garda.ie](mailto:vetting[at]garda.ie) The National Vetting Bureau accepts that face-to-face ID checks, while still the preferred option for verifying ID details, it does represent a health risk. In order to manage the risk, affiliates can take a more flexible approach to identity, cognisant of the risk created by a less stringent identity process.

For the duration, the affiliate can establish identity without a face-to-face meeting through methods such as accepting scanned/photographed documents. If you choose to accept scanned documents, once you have received a scanned copy of the NVB1 form/signature you can forward it by email to vetting@create-ireland.ie for processing.

The documentation scanned or emailed to you must be of a good, clear quality. Once normal activities resume, it is your responsibility to verify and check the applicant's original documentation against the scanned documentation to ensure it matches the information on the consent form.

We do this by:

1. Ensuring that all primary carers are aware of our Child Safeguarding Policy (a copy is available at the box office of Siamsa Tíre Theatre and on our website)

Child Protection Records

The purpose of this section is to provide guidance to staff on record keeping, to enable the designated member of staff with a responsibility for child protection to ensure that all child protection information and concerns are kept in an appropriate and useful manner.

Good record keeping is essential in safeguarding the welfare of children and young people. For this reason, it is advisable to carry out a regular audit of all child protection information kept in the theatre, to ensure that procedures are being followed correctly.

What kind of information should be recorded?

Any member of staff who has a concern about a child should make a written note. This must be passed on to the Designated Liaison Person, (although a personal copy may be kept in a secure place). The note should be timed, dated and signed, with your name printed alongside the signature.

Notes must be made as soon as possible and certainly within 24 hours of the incident giving rise to the concern. The important thing is that they are:

- Factual
- Using a child's own words where possible
- A record of what you saw and heard

Professional opinions are acceptable but only if you state the facts or observations upon which your opinion is based.

If a referral is made to designated officers of Tusla, the Health Service Executive (HSE) or to members of the Gardaí a written record of all concerns held should be sent and a copy of the referral should be kept by the theatre.

Nagging Doubts about a Child's Safety and Welfare

Sometimes, things which seem to be insignificant or trivial at the time turn out to be vital pieces of information later.

A record should be made of any information, including hearsay and 'nagging doubts', which give you cause for concern about a child. Much of this information may not appear to be very significant on its own, but it could contribute to a 'jigsaw' picture of abuse that should not be ignored. Remember no concern is too small

If there has been no specific incident or information, make a written note. Try to identify what is really making you feel worried. Record these concerns on the same record of concern form for your records.

It is crucial that actions and outcomes are recorded on these forms, including any consultation that has been carried out with any other professionals.

How should notes and reports be made?

It is impossible to say, at the time of making a child protection note, who will eventually have access to it, or when. It may be consulted months or even years after it was written. Always bear in mind that someone who is a complete stranger to you and the theatre may need to read your record at some stage in the future.

Ideally, logs of incidents should be typed. If handwritten, notes should be clearly legible and written in ink. All notes and reports must contain the following:

- Date of the incident
- Date and time of the record being made
- Name and date of birth of the child(ren) concerned
- A factual account of what happened, and the location where the incident took place (keeping it in the Date and time of the record being made
- Name and date of birth of the child(ren) concerned
- A factual account of what happened, and the location where the incident took place (keeping it in the child's words)
- A note of any other people involved e.g. as witnesses
- Questions that the adult asked (remember do not ask leading questions)
- Action taken, and any future plans e.g. monitor and review
- Any other agencies informed:
 - o Names,
 - o Dates,
 - o Times of anyone spoken to.
- Printed name of the person making the record
- Job title of the person making the record
- Signature (print name alongside)

The source of the information should be identified e.g. 'Mrs Bell, a facilitator, informed me that...' Or 'I saw John in the gallery at break time....'

Information should be factual or based on fact. Record what you saw, heard etc. and try not to be vague or woolly (e.g. 'Jenny was crying and rocking' rather than 'Jenny was upset')

Opinion is acceptable provided that you can give some justification for holding it (e.g. 'Sam ran and hid under the table when his mother arrived to take him home and clung to me when I tried to get him out. He appeared to be frightened.')

Make a note of what you have done with the information (e.g. 'I consulted the Executive Director, Mr Wilson, and she said she would...')

Try to avoid specialist jargon which someone external to the organisation would not necessarily understand, write the information in full.

Where should child protection information be kept?

The child protection file should contain all reports, notes and correspondence referring to a child. This should be kept in one secure place e.g. a locked filing cabinet in the Designated Liaison Person's office.

Who should have access to child protection information?

Access to the information on file should be on a need-to-know basis among the staff. This can only be decided on a case-by-case basis. The confidentiality of the child and family should be respected as far as possible, but the welfare of the child is paramount. It would be unlikely that every member of staff would need to know the details of a case. Generally speaking, the closer the contact with the child, the more likely the need to know an outline of the case. All information must be shared with Tusla, the Health Service Executive (HSE) or to members of the Gardaí, as appropriate, where there is concern that a child is at risk of significant harm.

Child protection information should not ordinarily be shared with agencies other than these statutory agencies e.g. information should not be released to solicitors etc.

How long should information be kept?

The file should be retained at the theatre until the child's date of birth + 25 years.

Information of a child protection nature relating to an allegation against a member of staff, including where the allegation is unfounded, should be kept until the person's normal retirement age or 10 years from the date of the allegation if that's longer.

Does the concern fall into one of the following categories? Please tick.

RELEVANT LEGISLATION

There are a number of key pieces of legislation that relate to child welfare and protection. The information here gives a brief overview of relevant legislation. It is not intended as legal opinion or advice and, if in doubt, you should consult the original legislation.

CHILD CARE ACT 1991

This is the key piece of legislation which regulates childcare policy in Ireland. Under this Act, Tusla has a statutory responsibility to promote the welfare of children who are not receiving adequate care and protection. If it is found that a child is not receiving adequate care and protection, Tusla has a duty to take appropriate action to promote the welfare of the child. This may include supporting families in need of assistance in providing care and protection to their children. The Child Care Act also sets out the statutory framework for taking children into care, if necessary.

PROTECTIONS FOR PERSONS REPORTING CHILD ABUSE ACT 1998 (updated 2015)

This Act protects you if you make a report of suspected child abuse to designated officers of Tusla, the Health Service Executive (HSE) or to members of the Gardaí as long as the report is made in good faith and is not malicious. Designated officers also include persons authorised by the Chief Executive Officer of Tusla to receive and acknowledge reports of mandated concerns about a child from mandated persons under the Children First Act 2015.

This legal protection means that even if you report a case of suspected child abuse and it proves unfounded, a plaintiff who took an action would have to prove that you had not acted reasonably and in good faith in making the report. If you make a report in good faith and in the child's best interests, you may also be protected under common law by the defence of qualified privilege.

You can find the full list of persons in Tusla and the HSE who are designated officers under the 1998 Act, on the website of each agency (www.tusla.ie and www.hse.ie).

CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT 2006 (updated 2019)

Section 176 of this Act created an offence of reckless endangerment of children. This offence may be committed by a person who has authority or control over a child or abuser who intentionally or recklessly endangers a child by:

1. Causing or permitting the child to be placed or left in a situation that creates a substantial risk to the child of being a victim of serious harm or sexual abuse; or
2. Failing to take reasonable steps to protect a child from such a risk while knowing that the child is in such a situation.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE (WITHHOLDING OF INFORMATION ON OFFENCES AGAINST CHILDREN AND VULNERABLE PERSONS) ACT 2012

Under this Act, it is a criminal offence to withhold information about a serious offence, including a sexual offence, against a person under 18 years or a vulnerable person. The offence arises where a person knows or believes that a specified offence has been committed against a child or vulnerable person and he or she has information which would help arrest, prosecute or convict another person for that offence, but fails without reasonable excuse to disclose that information, as soon as it is practicable to do so, to a member of An Garda Síochána. The provisions of the Withholding legislation are in addition to any reporting requirements under the Children First Act 2015.

NATIONAL VETTING BUREAU (CHILDREN AND VULNERABLE PERSONS) ACTS 2012–2016 (updated 2019)

Under these Acts, it is compulsory for employers to obtain vetting disclosures in relation to anyone who is carrying out relevant work with children or vulnerable adults. The Acts create offences and penalties for persons who fail to comply with their provisions. Statutory obligations on employers in relation to Garda vetting requirements for persons working with children and vulnerable adults are set out in the National Vetting Bureau (Children and Vulnerable Persons) Acts 2012–2016.

CHILDREN FIRST ACT 2015 (updated 2019)

The Children First Act 2015 is an important addition to the child welfare and protection system as it will help to ensure that child protection concerns are brought to the attention of Tusla without delay. The Act provides for mandatory reporting of child welfare and protection concerns by key professionals; comprehensive risk assessment and planning for a strong organisational culture of safeguarding in all services provided to children; a provision for a register of non-compliance; and the statutory underpinning of the existing Children First Interdepartmental Implementation Group which promotes and oversees cross-sectoral implementation and compliance with Children First.

CRIMINAL LAW (SEXUAL OFFENCES) ACT 2017 (updated 2019)

This Act addresses the sexual exploitation of children and targets those who engage in this criminal activity. It creates offences relating to the obtaining or providing of children for the purposes of sexual exploitation. It also creates offences of the types of activity which may occur during the early stages of the predatory process prior to the actual exploitation of a child, for example, using modern technology to prey on children and making arrangements to meet with a child where the intention is to sexually exploit the child. The Act also recognises the existence of underage, consensual peer relationships where any sexual activity falls within strictly defined age limits and the relationship is not intimidatory or exploitative
